From the Texas Department of Transportation

Residents Requested to Take TxDOT Survey to Help Shape the Future of I-35

From road trip kolaches to international trade, I-35 is a vital transportation artery for the state of Texas, and drivers now have a chance to shape its future.

To meet the transportation needs of Texas' growing population and robust economy over the next 25 years, the Texas Department of Transportation (TxDOT) invites the public to share their feedback on the future of I-35 through a survey April 6 through May 6. Public feedback will help guide proposed improvements in TxDOT's I-35 Texas Corridor Study: A Path to 2050 from Laredo to the Texas and Oklahoma state line.

Why 35?

Known as the "Main Street of Texas", the I-35 corridor is home to around half of Texas' total population and connects travelers with tourism destinations, military bases and numerous state parks.

The study aims to address current and future mobility challenges, incorporate improvement opportunities for all users and transportation modes, and benefit urban, rural and border areas while advancing economic development and regional growth.

"I-35 is one of the most important interstates for the state of Texas and our nation, supporting Texas' economy and quality of life," said TxDOT Transportation Planning and Programs Director Humberto

"Tito" Gonzalez Jr. said. "This statewide survey is a great opportunity for the public to join TxDOT in helping shape its future, continuing to successfully deliver and provide for Texans."

Study Goals

The border-to-border corridor study will identify existing gaps and evolving multimodal transportation needs and opportunities for the next 25 years.

Through data-informed analysis and collaborative stakeholder engagement, the study will develop prioritized solutions. These include multimodal improvements, policies, programs, or regional planning studies across urban, rural and border areas. It is expected to be completed by early 2027.

How to Take the Survey

Public comments and feedback are important in identifying current and future needs. Visit the I-35 Texas Corridor Study on txdot.gov <https://www.txdot.gov/projects/projects-studies/statewide/i35-texas-corridor-study.html> to learn more about the study and to access the survey.

Obituary

Stuart Sibley

Stuart Sibley left behind this small blue sphere we call Earth and transitioned to his heavenly home on April 4, 2026, following a brief illness.

Funeral services will be conducted by Cook-Gerngross-Green-Patterson Funeral Home in Rosebud, Texas. Visitation will be from 1:30 p.m. to 2:30 p.m. on Monday, April 13 at the funeral home, followed by a graveside service at 3 p.m. at Powers Chapel Cemetery. Rev. Don Fulton will officiate.

Stuart was born in Fort Worth, Texas, on November 14, 1977. He was the first child of Deborah Susan (Tutcher) Sibley and Stephen Earl Sibley. Stuart was a blond-haired, brown-eyed bundle of energy as a toddler. He was always up for a new adventure. Stuart attended grade school at All Saints Episcopal School in Fort Worth and later graduated from high school at Western Hills. After high school, he worked for a time as an interior finisher and painter. He then decided to move to Nacogdoches, TX, where he lived with his grandparents and attended Stephen F. Austin State University for two years.

Stuart then moved to Brownwood, TX, and worked for 3M as a maker for a number of years until a workplace injury forced him to end his employment there. He then moved back to Benbrook to live with his parents.

Stuart liked anything with wheels: skateboards, electric cars, bikes, motorcycles, and his blue convertible Mustang. He enjoyed going hunting with his and his dad's friends and fishing from his granddad's pier on Lake Arrowhead. Stuart enjoyed helping his dad at the family farm, doing all kinds of work necessary to maintain the farm.

Stuart was baptized and became a member of the Ridglea United Methodist Church in 1992. Stuart loved well and was well loved by all of his friends and family.

Stuart was predeceased by his mother, Debbie Sibley. He is survived by his dad, Stephen Sibley; one brother, Scott Andrew Sibley; aunts, Sylvia Sibley Middlebrook and Janice Stokes; and uncle, Thomas Tutcher Jr.; cousins, Holli Smith, Dr. Emily Middlebrook Robinson, Jennifer Mohon, and Jon-David Alexander.

The family suggests memorials to the Union Gospel Mission of Tarrant County or the Presbyterian Night Shelter of Tarrant County.

Texas History Minute by Dr. Ken Bridges

Roger Mills: Texas Statesman's Long Career Marked by Service, Stubborn Politics

Roger Mills was an early Texas lawyer and legislator. He fought in the Civil War and served for nearly three decades in Congress and the U. S. Senate from the 1870s through the 1890s. Though respected for his dedication and work ethic, his political stands damaged his political career.

Roger Quarles Mills was born in Todd County, Kentucky, just on the Tennessee state line, in 1832. Not long after statehood and the end of the Mexican War, the family moved to Texas in 1849. Mills was interested in law, but as there were no law schools in Texas at the time, he apprenticed himself to an attorney and studied it himself. In 1852, barely 20 years old, he was admitted to the bar, becoming the youngest attorney in the state at the time.

Mills settled in Corsicana, built a respected practice, and got involved in local politics. In 1859, he was elected to the state legislature. Texas seceded from the Union in February 1861 as his term ended. He quickly enlisted in the Confederate Army, serving as a private. He soon saw action at the Battle of Wilson's Creek in August 1861 in Missouri as Confederate forces tried unsuccessfully to pull that state out of the Union. In October, the 10th Texas Infantry Regiment was organized, and Mills was promoted to colonel as he helped organize the new regiment, also called "Wilson's Guards."

The first major action that the 10th Texas saw was at the Battle of Arkansas Post on the Mississippi River in January 1863. Confederate forces were overwhelmed, and most of the 10th Texas was captured and held prisoner until an exchange a few months later. The 10th was combined with the 6th Texas Infantry and the 15th Texas Cavalry, with Gen. James Deshler in command. At the battle of Chickamauga in October, Deshler was killed, and Mills assumed command.

For the rest of the war, Mills led the 10th Texas as Confederate defenses in eastern Tennessee and northern Georgia faltered. By 1865, Mills led his troops into North Carolina with what remained of the Confederate Army. His forces surrendered near Durham, North Carolina, in late April, more than two weeks after Gen. Robert E. Lee's surrender at Appomattox.

After the war, he returned to Corsicana. In 1872, he was elected as a Democrat to Congress. In Congress, he became known for his work ethic. He rose to become chairman of the influential Ways and Means Committee, which crafted the federal budget, and later the Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce. As the economy depended on exports of cattle, cotton, and grains, foreign trade was especially important; but there were still many defenders of high protectionist tariffs. Mills attempted to push through a bill that reduced the overseas tariff but instead only got a watered-down tariff reduction bill, the Mills Bill of 1888, which passed the Democratic House of Representatives easily but was shot down by the Republican Senate.

One of his most notable political battles came in 1891 after the Democrats reclaimed the U. S. House of Representatives in the mid-term elections. Mills ran for Speaker of the House. He quickly gathered commitments from 120 fellow Democrats. However, backroom deals peeled away several supporters; and the election went on ballot after ballot. As with his stubborn nature he had shown through much of his career, he refused to back down and make compromises. On the thirtieth ballot, he lost to Rep. Charles Crisp of Georgia by a margin of 119 to 105.

In spite of the loss, in 1891, the Oklahoma Territory named the new Roger Mills County, which borders the Texas Panhandle, after him. In March 1892, the state legislature elected Mills to the U. S. Senate, succeeding Sen. Horace Chilton. Increasingly, silver coinage was a popular issue among farmers across the South and Midwest as farmers were desperate to reverse the tide of collapsing crop prices. They saw monetary inflation as the solution to ending their debt problems. However, eastern bankers opposed silver coinage as it cut into their profits from loans, and eastern factory workers opposed it as it ate into their wages. Loyal to President Grover Cleveland, Mills backed a partial repeal of the 1890 Sherman Silver Purchase Act which sought to add more inflationary silver into the nation's money supply.

Upset at the action, the Texas legislature declined to re-elect him in 1898. When his term ended in March 1899, Mills returned to Texas and resumed his law practice. He died in Corsicana in September 1911 at age 79.
